A team of the world's top chainsaw carvers lead by veteran Steve Blanchard battle a deadline, a budget and conflicting artistic sensibilities, to complete a series of one of a kind commissioned wood carving projects.

From Saw Dogs headquarters, Steve and his foreman pull from a pool of the best carvers in the world, matching their special skill sets to each week's project, to craft some of the most intricate wood carvings imaginable. But unlike other crafts, chainsaw carving has an element of danger. Mistakes have resulted in loss of limb and even death. Confronting the chainsaw challenge requires a steady hand, a fearless disposition and a healthy ego.
